

Reading List – Year 11

The Wall

John Lanchester

Long-listed for the Booker Prize, this cli-fi dystopia tells the dtale of a Defender, one who is tasked with protecting Britain from climate refugees.

MacBeth

Jo Nesbo

A modern noir retelling of the classic Shakespeare tale set in the drug fuelled underworld of Inspector MacBeth.

Brave New World

Aldous Huxley

What happens when you don't fit into a society designed with a place for everyone? The parallels drawn in this seminal science fiction still resonate with modern readers.

Rebecca

Daphne Du Maurier

Atmospheric thriller about a young woman haunted by the legacy of her husband's first wife.

The Water Dancer

Ta-Nehisi Coates

In the American South at the height of slavery, young Hiram Walker discovers he has the gift of Conduction: he can magically travel along water routes to safety.

Non-Fiction

The Body

Bill Bryson

Everyone's got one—you might as well learn more about it! Bryson treats this subject with the same humour and wry commentary as he has Britain, America and the home.